

Bombadil - A Buzz, a Buzz lyrics

thank you for listening!

01 - Trip Out West

Thought I'd take a trip out west
See the Mississippi Go down to Tennessee or the Big Easy Drove out from the east coast With my home town boy Put in on the southern shores of Illinois

Don't take it so hard, babe
Life and you
Don't take it so hard, babe,
It'll see you through.

Hid out in a corn field
With Picasso colors
Humming birds and mosquitos
By the brown waters Walked through the darkest cave Hoping for Mark Twain Didn't find that river man but it sure did rain.

02 - Julian

Julian of Norwich was a charming farming girl.
Perfectly content in her little peasant world.
Prepared to live her weary dreary life.
To live as someone's perfect little wife.
Then one day she heard a higher, mighty voice.
And to her it seemed that there was a higher choice.
So she made her vows and the whole world she did tell,
She would live alone in a little walled-off cell.

Julian of Norwich, why did you go away?
Don't you know your family thinks of you every day?
And though your faith is strong it has to be said, to your own family you may as well be dead.

Julian of Norwich was buried alive.

On only bread and water she could not survive.
But she always prepared for this day.
She went through her funeral before they locked her away.
All the people came from far and wide They could not go in so they stayed outside They opened up their hearts and confessed their sins Their stories made Julian's cut up head spin

03 - Smile When You Kiss

you should smile when you kiss dont let people say your emotionless sentimentalist laugh when you want dont let people say you do it to taunt or haunt dance when you like dont let people say its only for night thats trite and you can cry by yourself im here to tell you other people are hell shit sells

you can sing all alone singings just talking in tones rhymestones and get off your cellphone because they're tracking you home skin and bones all alone

when you do and when you do so compile all your bliss into memory books of all the people you miss it's heartless to keep all the change the root of evil's made us deranged we're chained to the walls of our jobs a school of fish on the fishing bobs we're slobs for the friends that we keep never seem to keep us so neat that's sweet like a closed candy store that couldn't stay open just one day more we're troubadores and the mgm lion's roar is making you bored so pull the cord and close the door

04 - Rosetta Stone

Well she said Hello in Well it must've been an archaic tongue
Was it more a sweet goodbye, so long, I've had my fun

And she brought an interpreter
and he's making it quite clear your champagne's always near You came by for the music but You know you're not really here

Teach me your alphabet so I can break your code
I swear you're from the golden age, you're my rosetta stone

And she brought
An interpreter
And he's making it quite clear your champagne's always near when you're your most sincere
You came by for the music but, it's worse than you feared.

05 - Three Saddest Words

When you called at 4am
My mind was workin I rolled over in the bed above the box where I kept The trifles I talked in letters unsend and I don't understand what you see in this man what you see in me.

It's no surprise
My heart is broken
It's no surprise
And I don't understand what it means for your man
What it means for me

Called you back at 5:17
You never answered and now I have seen What it means to me

I realize
I have the answer
I realize

I remember You told me there were The three saddest words and now I am sure What they mean to me

I got the tone
But could not follow through Just a recording A voice I once knew Said the three saddest words
That I ever have heard
And I remember
But now I'm not sure What it means from you.

06 - Buzz, a buzz

a buzz, a buzz is pleasant company for someone surrounded by four walls.
abuzz, abuzz
your mind it was when someone found out love was gone.

a bust, a bust, you thought it must have been a breach of trust

by four walls
a bus,† a bust, you turned your cards over, threw them up in disgust.
love was gone.

a bus, a bus passenger asked you how you felt you said you felt surrounded
by four walls
a bus, a bus
took you pretty far but you wound up right back where you started
love was gone.

I was singing about that time with the border patrol and the mountains of utah. you thought you had control. but now that confession put it home back down to the gravest days and alright guess who's backit'slikethat, it'slikethisit'slikethatand you said I've got dreams that I can't share so I write them in reams so the papers will blare

07 - One, Two, Three

One, two three

And if I could be Beautiful to see
I would be a little white flower
Under a tree

And if I could sing
All the love I would bring I would be a bluebird baby Taking wing

We could watch the clouds go by into nothing
We could watch the passersby, that's something No no, she says, no no, she says, No no she says that's not how it goes

And if I could fly Pie in the sky
I would try and win your love

Don't ask why

And if I could be
With you and me Three words would be all I needed One, two, three; one, two three I love you, I love you I know she says, I know she says, I know she says, that's how it goes

08 - Cavaliers

We are calling cavaliers to arms
We shall fight like a lion with a sword in its side We shall rush to defend at the sound of the alarms
We shall vanquish our foes with the justice of the brave

Cavaliers, sing out in glory, har hum Cavaliers--it's the same old story, har hum

And we'll raise up our fists as the horns ring out O'er the river we must cross to the enemy side But we'll fall to our knees as the tide brings doubt For heavy baggage worn we are bashed and bathed

So we knocked on the doors of the ones who kept us down
But they heard us from afar and they ran away in fear So we sharpened our blades on whatever was around Branches, bark and motor oil, we left a dreadful wake.

09 - Caterpillar Tree (for old time's sake)

A lonely caterpillar tree Stands right next to me
And it wants you for a friend to be Maybe you can be

Inside of me
Is a lonely caterpillar
Inside of me
Is a light that grows much dimmer Let's take a ride, ride cause you've got the time.

Stands by the sea

And it wants you for a friend to be Maybe you can see

Inside of me
Is a lonely caterpillar
Inside of me
Are two eyes that shake and quiver
Let's take a ride, ride cause you've got the time.

10 - Johnny

Little Johnny Johnny cut himself to stay sane
He had a girlie girlie but she couldn't remain
By his side so he tried to fill the void in his life
By writing on his arm with a knife

She walked into Johnny's room And now she knows just what he means It was different, It was so different When she was writing on his arm she was writing on his arm she was Little Johnny knew the feeling had to revive He didn't really wonder whether he would survive

So he clung to the pain with the hopes to regain Proof that Johnny still was alive.

11 - Get To Gettin On

Well I said
You could stay with me I was being polite out of courtesy And you looked me right in the eye Promised me that it'd be just for a while

So I'm laying this one down I ain't puttin you on, no Girl, I'll give you til the dawn And then you got to get to gettin on

Well it Took me some time
I thought this one through and I made up my mind
And you well, you ain't no good You had me fooled, carved my heart up just like wood

In case you did not hear me I'm gonna tell you once more
